ACADEMIC REGALIA AND CEREMONY

The history of academic dress dates back to the 14th century. Their use was presumably for warmth in the unheated building during European winters. Now, they are reminders of the years of work required to earn academic degrees. The color and pageantry of the academic regalia prevalent in the United States today was fixed by convention in 1895 and revised in 1932, 1959, and 1986.

There are three basic academic gowns. The gown for bachelor degrees has pointed sleeves and is worn closed. The gown for master degrees has oblong sleeves with slit openings at the elbow and the base hanging down. It is worn with a hood, and the color indicates the discipline of the degree. The doctoral gown is tastefully ornamented with colored velvet down the front and three chevrons on the bell-shaped sleeves. Only presidential gowns have a fourth chevron on the sleeves. Both the master's and doctor's hoods have a velvet border, with the doctoral hood being the more elaborate. A gold tassel on the doctor's cap replaces the black* on the master's and bachelor's caps.

The colors lining the hoods worn by the faculty are those of the institution granting the degree and the velvet border indicates the branch of knowledge in which the degree was acquired. The colors for the subjects are:

Arts and Humanities White
Business Drab
Economics Copper
Education Light Blue
Fine Arts Brown
Law Purple
Library Science Lemon
Medicine Green
Music Pink
Nursing Apricot
Philosophy Dark Blue
Physical Education Sage Green
Physical Therapy Teal
Science Golden Yellow
Theology Scarlet

HONOREE

Roger Nielsen '74

Founder, Abbey Color Incorporated and Abbey Companies

Alumnus Roger Nielsen's life and leadership reflect the very best of Charleston Southern University.

Roger Nielsen came to what was then Baptist College from New Jersey to play baseball. He earned his accounting degree in 1974 and went on to build a remarkable business career as the owner of Abbey Color Incorporated in Philadelphia and Abbey Companies, now the world's premier dye manufacturer. Today, the company continues under the leadership of his children, Brian Nielsen and Dr. Kristen Nielsen-Donnelly, extending the Nielsen legacy of excellence and purpose.

For many years, Roger and his wife, Joyce, supported CSU quietly, never seeking recognition. But after the Emanuel 9 tragedy, Roger watched with amazement as Buccaneer baseball player Chris Singleton stood before the world and declared: "Love is stronger than hate." Inspired by Chris's courage and faith, Roger felt called to invest more deeply in CSU. In 2018, he committed to support Buccaneer baseball, and Nielsen Field was later named in honor of his family.

Roger's impact extends far beyond athletics. Recognized for his business insight and passion for mentoring students, he joined the College of Business Executive in Residence program in 2018 and the Board of Advisors in 2019. In 2022, through the generosity of Roger, his wife Joyce, and their children, the university named the business school the Hans A. Nielsen College of Business in honor of Roger's father.

The Nielsen family's support—much of it offered quietly—has strengthened programs such as the Center for Personal Financial Management and launched the Community Research Institute, which gives CSU students real-world opportunities to serve the community through evidence-based solutions.

The Nielsen family's commitment—financial and personal—is helping CSU expand its reach and prepare students to lead with faith and purpose. Roger has said, "We were taught to create wealth, not accumulate it."

Roger Nielsen's journey from student-athlete to entrepreneur, mentor, and philanthropist exemplifies Christian leadership in business and the heart of this university.
